

Jeffrey Howard Archer, Baron Archer of Weston-super-Mare (born 15 April 1940) is an English author and politician.

KANE & ABEL

Born on the same day near the turn of the century on opposite sides of the world, both men are brought together by fate and the quest of a dream.

These two men – ambitious, powerful, ruthless – are locked in a relentless struggle to build an empire, fuelled by their all-consuming hatred. Over 60 years and three generations, through war, marriage, fortune, and disaster, Kane and Abel battle for the success and triumph that only one man can have.

Kane and Abel by Jeffrey Archer follows the lives of two boys, born on the same day to very different circumstances. Baby Wladek is born in a forest in Poland, found shortly after his mother died giving birth to him. A young hunter finds the baby and takes him home, making nine mouths to feed in the poverty stricken home. On the same day in Boston, William Lowell Kane is born to a banker and his wife with all the conveniences a 1906 hospital has to offer. Upon taking the baby home, there are nine people in the Kane household, if you count the servants.

AS THE CROW FLIES

Growing up in the slums of East End London, Charlie Trumper dreams of someday running his grandfather's fruit and vegetable barrow.

That day comes suddenly when his grandfather dies leaving him the floundering business. With the help of Becky Salmon, an enterprising young woman, Charlie sets out to make a name for himself as "The Honest Trader".

But the brutal onset of World War I takes Charlie far from home and into the path of a dangerous enemy whose legacy of evil follows Charlie and his family for generations. Encompassing three continents and spanning over sixty years, As the Crow Flies brings to life a magnificent tale of one man's rise from rags to riches set against the backdrop of a changing century.
